Andrew: hey
Andrew: come get a beer with me tonight Andrew: lets chat me: don't have time me: call me and we can go over whatever needs to be discussed, otherwise I can meet you tomorrow night, probably Andrew: faggotry
Andrew: how does someone who works from home have so little free time? me: because I'm running a massive and unprecedented conspiracy me: and also dating me: and working on my various other projects me: and Dwarf Fortress is out me: played most of the day yesterday while doing my work Andrew: df should not intercede me: it doesn't me: I'm not playing df today, instead getting our recruits organized under my new executive secretary me: so we'll be able to easily determine who can do what and then assign tasks accordingly Andrew: theres a new xcom coming out me: speaking of which, give me a call a bit later and we'll figure out what specifically needs to be done now, what I can help you with in terms of getting the software completed me: pish-tosh, they'll fuck it up me: or maybe not Andrew: its not about fucking it up Andrew: i either get patches or i dont me: no, I mean they'll fuck up xcom Andrew: its by the team who wrote bioshock me: anyway, let me know if you want me to direct programmers to your uploaded software and try to patch it further or what Andrew: and its got major backing Andrew: ps3, xbox, pc, etc me: I can provide you a lot of resources in that regard whenever you're ready
